

SOLANUM JASMINOIDES

The Solanum Jasmionoides belongs to the family Solanaceae and it originates from Brasil. It is an evergreen climbing shrub with glossy green leaves and with five petals and pure white flowers, sometimes tending to pink or blue, collected in bunches at the end of the branches. It is also called "Jasmine at night" because the flowers give off a sweet smell just at night.

Category: MEDITERRANEAN OUTDOOR PLANTS

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Availability	March, April, May
Exposure	Full sun
Flowering	Spring, Summer
Water need	Average

