

SUCCULENTS

The succulents absorb the water when it abundantly rains and they accumulate water so that they can resist in periods of drought. They are plants suitable for dry weather. The succulents don't need a lot of water; on the contrary a lot of water can damage them. It's better not to keep them in sunlight but in a lit place, in a well-drained soil.

---

Category: PERENNIAL OUTDOOR PLANTS

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Availability	February, March, April
Exposure	Full sun, Half shade
Water need	Average
Flowering	Spring, Summer

